GRANT GUIDELINES – CHRISTIANITY

The following guidelines offer information to assist grant seekers determine whether their request is compatible with the Christianity funding priorities of VFFF. You will also find information about VFFF grant making. Our Christianity funding has been informed by October 2019 consultation with faith based organisations and we encourage grant seekers to review this information. This is provided in the spirit of transparency and to assist grant seekers determine whether their work aligns with how VFFF works and the role it seeks to play as a grant maker. The final section details our application process.

VFFF's Founder Sir Vincent Fairfax was a committed Christian and actively involved in the Anglican Church. Christian faith was a central pillar of his life and character, providing purpose, a robust ethical framework and the basis of care for others. Today, VFFF seeks to support a spiritually rich society that values Christian faith in action.

Our Christianity funding focuses on young people, with the goal and priority outcomes noted below:

ABOUT VFFF GRANT MAKING

VFFF makes grants to charities registered with the Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission (ACNC) working in NSW. Grants between $20,000 and $50,000 are available for organisations working in NSW or Queensland. Grants above $50,000 are available for organisations working in NSW.

From November 2019, VFFF does not provide funding to individual churches.

Our assessment

We work closely with organisations and groups to understand their current position and future aspirations so we can provide the most useful support we can at the opportune time. In assessing funding opportunities, we consider;

- Is there strong leadership? – ‘doing’ leaders with vision, action and tenacity – people who are making things happen and motivating others
- Is the organisation in good health? - sound governance, effective operational systems and financially viable
- Is the work proposed driven by demand? – there is evidence that the work proposed is relevant and important to the people who are meant to benefit from it, and that those people have or will be genuinely involved in its development
- Is there a sound strategy? - the work proposed is a logical and practical response to the issue and local context, and there is evidence suggesting it will be effective in these circumstances
- Is there capacity and experience to deliver the strategy effectively? – a deep understanding of the people you seek to work with, relevant specialist skills, you are trusted by the people you seek to work with
- Are the desired outcomes clear and demonstrable? – clarity on what will be different as a result of the grant, and mechanisms to track outcomes as you go along, allowing refinement in real time
- Are there other financial contributions? - or a sound plan to leverage VFFF support to obtain further funding

Our overall grant profile – in the 2019 financial year:

- 77% of grants approved were multi-year commitments
- Grants ranged from $25,000 to $3,000,000
- 40% of funds approved were for work in rural and regional areas
- 84% of grants approved were for core operations or organisational capacity building

Types of support

VFFF provides support that falls under the following three categories:

1. Core operations

This refers to organisational and administrative costs such as salaries and overheads that maintain the everyday operation of an organisation. VFFF primarily makes core operations grants for small to medium-sized organisations at a critical time of transition or development.

e.g. For Sports Chaplaincy Australia to support the salary costs of the chaplaincy in junior sport Sydney netball pilot. ($49,483).

2. Capacity Building

Capacity building grants aim to strengthen organisations by investing in core competencies such as business or operational planning, board development and governance, management capacity, staff training, leadership development and infrastructure. This support intends to enhance the ability of an organisation to operate more effectively beyond the conclusion of the grant.

e.g. For The Crusader Union of Australia for the redevelopment of the Lake Macquarie Outdoor Recreation Centre to support young people grow their interest and participation in Christianity ($3,000,000 over two years).

3. Programs

This refers to costs that are directly related to the development, implementation, delivery and evaluation of a specific program or activity. Most VFFF grants under $50,000 tend to be for programs as well as some larger grants.

e.g. For the Alpha Australia Youth Series to help young people explore and discuss the basics of the Christian faith in a church, youth group or school environment ($240,000 over three years).

VFFF does not provide funding for: Scholarships, public fundraising appeals, endowment funds established to provide a corpus for institutions, disaster appeals or political projects and/or lobby groups.
